

Welcome to our Wellbeing at home activities pack

Healthy Lifestyle

“The book reviews are great, I used to read the reviews to my Mum and see if she wanted to read one but I’ve found myself reading a few myself. I’d forgotten how much I liked reading and have made time to read which makes me feel better too.” G – Prestwich

Within our local community there is a wide range of community groups, activities, events and services all of which can help improve our health and wellbeing, making us feel more connected to our neighbourhood and where we live. We know that it’s not always easy to get involved with these for many different reasons whether it’s working, caring for family members, or being unable to leave your home. We’re working with local residents, community groups and organisations to create a series of activities which give you the chance to get involved from your own home.

You can do as many of the activities as you want to and activities can be adapted to suit your needs whether that’s reading to grandchildren or setting up a knitting group in the care home you live in.

Your social prescriber can help make the changes you need to improve your own health and wellbeing.

Queenie - Candice Carty-Williams - On the surface this feels like a throwaway holiday read, a bubbly story of poor choices and wanton self destruction. In fact I almost put it down after chapter one as the main character seemed so one dimensional. Boy am I glad I stuck with it! Queenie sneaks up on you with its subtly, reflecting accurately that mental health is often times chipped away without you realising it. The story of 26yr old Queenie and the ending of her relationship actually becomes a story of race, gender, society, politics, and feminism. Wandering the fine line we all tread between mental wellness and mental illness.

God's Own Country - Ross Raisin - based in the Yorkshire Moors this is the story of outsider Sam Marsdyke, a young farmer who is cut off socially from his village after being expelled from school. His inward battles veer from the gentrification of his town, the troubled history which causes his exclusion, and his stoic father battling on in the old ways. Becoming consumed by an obsession with a girl new to the area his next moves are both peculiar and inevitable.

Child - The Scarecrow and His Servant - Phillip Pullman This is a chapter book absolutely packed with humour and adventure. There is no doubting Pullman as a master storyteller and this book is no exception. It was so good that the whole family gathered in bed to listen to a chapter a night. The story follows a scarecrow who is both wonderfully charming and (quite literally) pea brained. He's filled with grand ideas and along with his faithful servant Jack they encounter brigands, wars, shipwrecks, desert islands, unscrupulous businessmen and talking birds. Laughs and adventures this book is best read aloud I think though older children (8+) would likely manage it alone.

The Musical – ‘Beautiful’ – Review by Marilyn Shalks

This musical is the story of the famous song writer/singer Carole King who was born in 1942 and grew up in Brooklyn in a Jewish Family. She started to learn to play the piano at the age of 4 and developed a good ear for music.

In the 1950's she was good friends with Neil Simon and they send make demo records together which they sent to recording companies. Her 1st boyfriend was Neil Sedaka, who after their romance had ended wrote his No 1 hit 'Oh, Carole' and dedicated it to her.

When she was 17 she married her song writing partner Gerry Goffin. She mainly wrote the music and he wrote the lyrics Together they wrote lots of hits together, including 'the Locomotion' which their babysitter 'Little Eva' recorded and had a No 1 hit with.

They went on to write many, many hits which are performed in the show including 'Will you still love me tomorrow' sung by the Shirelles, 'Chains' which the Beatles later recorded. 'It might as well rain until September' which she had a hit with. 'Take good care of my baby' sung by Bobby Vee. 'Up on the roof' sang by the Drifters. 'I'm into something Good' which Herman's Hermits had a No 1 with in the UK. 'Pleasant Valley Sunday' a No 1 hit for the Monkees. 'You make me feel like a natural woman' for Aretha Franklin. 'You've got a friend' sung by her.

Sadly after 10 years of marriage they split. After her divorce, she decided she couldn't live in New York any longer and moved out to California.

If you are of a certain age or not you will remember all these songs and many more that she had written.

Everyone in the audience sang along to the songs. So nostalgic, especially for me and hopefully you will be able to remember and reminisce about some of these fabulous songs and times.

Fill your Cup with Gratitude!

It's good to remember all the things that make us feel happier and better about ourselves. But with our busy, hectic, stressful lives we often forget about ourselves and the things that make us smile, the things we are grateful for – family and friends, pets, blue skies, sunsets, hot cup of tea, a good book and so much more!

So let's fill our cups...

- You'll need a cup or a jar, decorate it if you want to and put it somewhere you can see it.
- Then every day take some time for yourself and do something you enjoy like go for a walk, read a book, look out of the window, soak in a bath, listen to some music.
- Each day write down up to three things you are grateful for on separate pieces of paper and fold them and put them in your cup.
- At the end of the month or whenever you are feeling fed up unfold the paper and have a read and remember the things that make you smile.
